

powerful ELECTRICAL SERVICE

WHAT YOU MAY NOT KNOW ABOUT JOHN E. HALL ELECTRICAL CONTRACTOR

- John E. Hall, the owner/founder, is himself a licensed Master Electrician with over 35 years experience in wiring buildings.
- The Company is properly certified with a specialty contracting license with the State Board of Contractors and with local governments to perform electrical wiring work. At JEHEC, we permit jobs under our own license, and you can be assured that all work is performed with JHE employees and not subcontractors that may or may not meet licensing requirements.
- We are heavily insured by top rated insurance carriers. We have recently audited and reviewed our risk management and insurance policies to improve coverage for JEHEC and all JEHEC customers.
- Each project's progress is monitored through daily and weekly management meetings during the entire construction period. Responsive to each project's needs, we continually monitor the logistics of manpower and materials on every job.
- We implement best practices from over 30 years of business experience, and we train all of our employees to adopt these practices in our own Quality Assurance Program. Our staff is highly trained in electrical and special systems requirements. Our management team handles each project from start to finish – including, but not limited to preconstruction value engineering comments by field-experienced, card-carrying electricians and NICET trained special systems technicians.
- Our service department and reputation are second to none! We have the absolute best service department in the business – standing behind our work 110%. Throughout the warranty period and beyond, our service philosophy puts the emphasis on customer satisfaction.
- Our value is high; our pricing is competitive and our bidding process is transparent.
